Gillian Grassie Singer/Songwriter
 Benefit Concert supporting Fellowship of Reconciliation (F.R.O.)

Just added!! Pat Jones Trio, with Barry Wiesenfeld and Don Gardner
 Listen to Pat's new album at www.patjones.com

Contemporary singer/songwriter/harpist Gillian Grassie, and her band bring HarpPower to Riverspace to promote her new hit album, Serpentine, and to benefit Upper Nyack-based Fellowship of Reconciliation in their efforts to promote world peace.

Rocking review: Serpentine is an album that belongs on critics' best of list not only for this year, but the decade... Her music... blends jazz, folk and rock with mesmerizing effectiveness... It's a harp convention with a sassy sexiness... I remember hearing Lori, Fiona, Sarah or Joni for the first time? Make sure you come and see Gillian in this intimate venue while you can!

Premium seating includes pre-concert meet the artist and post-show wine reception at Hudson House.
 Tickets: $15 / $10 student / $25 premium seating

Reception at 7:30 PM, Film at 8 PM

My Kid Could Paint That

A Benefit for Artwalk sponsored by Riverspace and Riverwalk

A study of growing-up fascination with a child's art spanned over 10 years. The film follows young Maria Olmstead, whose father, an amateur painter himself, exhibited some of her paintings locally, on a whim. She grew up to become a painter in her own right, and her work is quite bloom, a sense of vivacity, energy, gaiety, sales and interviews follow, as Maria's father does his best to keep his five-figure prices.

Directed by Amit Bar-Lev, U.S.A., 2007, 92 minutes, documentary, rated PG-13.

Tickets: $20

Friday, June 27, 8 PM & 9:30 PM

Sonny Fortune Saxophone

When critics speak of Sonny Fortune, names like Coltrane, Cannonball, Young, Bechet, Hawkins and Parker immediately come to mind. But he deserves—for Sonny Fortune who embodies all the finest qualities of those late great musicians: hard work, dedication to his art, and exceptional musicality. Lucky for us, Sonny is still here and blowing hard.

Tickets: $15

Wednesday, June 11, 8PM

The Band's Visit

An Egyptian band comes to an Israeli desert town, are welcomed by a handful of bored Israelis who grudgingly offer them shelter, food and booze. The members of these disparate cultures circle one another warily, and if they don't quite bloom, a sense of vivacity, energy, gaiety, sales and interviews follow, as Roni Elhaban, Samir Gheith, Izzet El-Bayoumy, Rami El-Khatib, Samir Gehaib, Izzet El-Bayoumy, USA, 2007, 87 minutes, in English, Arabic and Hebrew with English subtitles, rated PG-13.

Tickets: $20

Wednesday, June 24, 8PM

The Savages

The hands that rock the cradle sometimes tip it over. This is particularly true for Jon and Wendy Savage, settings what qualifies as the most brooding movie ever made.

By the time all the father's failure to welcome their daughters to perform, all the men in the family struggle to deal with their responsibilities, the struggle to come to terms with their demons and new, painful responsibilities. As they struggle to come to terms with their responsibilities, the struggle to come to terms with their demons and new, painful responsibilities.

Directed by Tom Jane and Wendy Savage, with Laura Elena Harring, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Philip Bracco, U.S.A., 2007, 113 minutes, rated PG-13.

Tickets: $15
